Frequently Asked Questions

Can I work part-time and still satisfy the elimination period?

Yes, you can work part-time and still satisfy the elimination period. Any days that you work full-time will not count towards satisfaction of the elimination period.

Can I work part-time and still be eligible for a benefit?

Yes, as long as you continue to meet the definition of disability you will be eligible for a partial benefit.

Are rehabilitation services included?

Yes. We will work with you and your physician to plan, adapt, and put into place options and services to meet your return-to-work needs. This may include vocational testing and training, workplace modifications, job placement, transitional work, and other similar services.

How much will I receive if I am working part-time and still disabled?

During the return-to-work benefit period you can receive up to 100% of your pre-disability earnings from a combination of your part-time earnings and your Long-Term Disability benefit. Following the return-to-work benefit period, your Long-Term Disability benefit will be based on your percentage of earnings loss. For example, if you are losing 50% of your earnings, then your Long-Term Disability benefit would be reduced by half.

How are my Long-Term Disability benefits impacted by any other benefits I may be eligible for, such as worker's compensation or social security disability?

Generally speaking your Long-Term Disability benefits will be reduced by any benefits you receive as a result of your disability. Please see your coverage certificate for details.

Are my Long-Term Disability benefits taxable?

It depends. If you are paying the full cost of the plan with post-tax dollars, then your Long-Term Disability benefits may be non-taxable; however if your employer is paying the full cost or your contributions are on a pre-tax basis, then your benefits are generally taxable. Please consult your HR department for further details on your specific plan.

Are disabilities due to mental illness or substance abuse covered?

Yes, however the maximum benefit period is limited to 24 months.
